ABSTRACT

Dinosaurs were the rulers of the land 65 million years ago. In this videotape, children learn more about the different kinds of dinosaurs by viewing vivid illustrations and fossil discoveries. Students compare the dinosaurs to their modern kin--snakes, lizards, and crocodiles. Students also listen to different theories to try to answer the big question, What happened to the dinosaurs? This videotape correlates to the following National Science Education Standards for Life Science: characteristics of organisms; life cycles of organisms; and organisms and environments. The videotape is accompanied by a teacher's guide and a hands-on student experiment. (CCM)
